REMARKS

Claims 1-19 and 21-22 stand pending. The Examiner examined each of these claims. For the reasons stated below, each of these claims are in condition for allowance.

Claim Rejections – 35 U.S.C. §103

The Examiner rejected claims 1-19 and 21-22 under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over Hahn 2002/0127120 in view of Blotenberg 6,269,299. With respect to claim 1, this claim requires, “a receiver for receiving a first wireless signal” and “a memory unit in communication with said receiver, said memory unit for storing information relating to said compressor, said receiver and said memory unit mounted to said compressor.” This feature is not shown by the combination of references of Hahn and Blotenberg. The Examiner contends that one of ordinary skill in the art would modify the receiver and transmitter of Hahn to enable the reception of a radio frequency, thus a wireless signal. However, Hahn does not teach wireless communication while Blotenberg teaches wireless communication between two “programming devices,” not wireless communication at the point of the compressor.

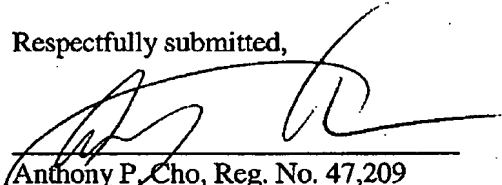

In addition, the Examiner contends that one of ordinary skill in the art would make the modification “as a means for adjusting compressor control parameters from a central or off-site location.” The remote operation taught by Blotenberg is between programming device 10 and programming device 5, not control and regulating system 4. The proposed combination would change a principle of operation of Blotenberg by eliminating programming device 5. Accordingly, the combination is improper. Therefore, claim 1 and its dependents, claims 2-10 and 21 stand in condition for allowance.

Claim 11 requires, "a first receiver for receiving a first wireless electric signal" and "said first receiver, said first transmitter, said memory unit and said compressor microprocessor are mounted to said compressor." For the reasons stated above, claim 11 and its dependents, claims 12-19 and 22, are in condition for allowance.

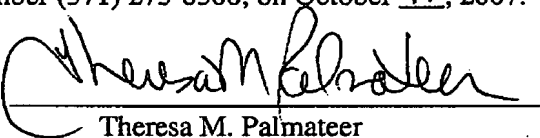

For the reasons stated above, Applicant requests allowance of claims 1-19 and 21-22.

Respectfully submitted,
